

Derek Ramm

Vice President, MT>Play

Derek has extensive domestic and international experience in the compliance, anti-money laundering, and intelligence fields. Having worked in both the private and public sectors, he brings a well-rounded and pragmatic perspective to issues.

Prior to joining MT>Play, a global advisory firm, Derek was the Director of the Intelligence and Investigative Support Branch at the Alcohol and Gaming Commission of Ontario, where he led an integrated team of police and regulatory professionals in the gaming, liquor, and horse racing sectors. Notably, at the request of the Bermuda government, he also served as a Commissioner on the Bermuda Casino Gaming Commission and helped to establish a regulated gaming industry on the island.

Derek previously spent over seven years as an officer with FINTRAC, the Government of Canada's financial intelligence unit. He also worked for the Ontario Lottery and Gaming Corporation, where he led the design and overall management of the anti-money laundering programs for casinos in the province of Ontario. Before becoming involved in gaming, Derek spent over 10 years in progressively senior compliance roles at one of Canada's largest independent investment management firms.
